Note in Raincoat Brings Response from Flood Area

Some people float notes in bottles out to sea; some tie notes to balloons and send them aloft; Elizabeth Haberman, 15, daughter of Clerk of Courts and Mrs. Carl F. Haberman of 637 Davis street, slipped a note into the pocket of a raincoat destined for some flood victim.

Elizabeth included in the note a self-addressed and stamped return envelope and forgot about the incident until one day recently she received a "Thank you" letter from the girl to whom the raincoat was given, Frances Gannon of Franklin Furnace in Seale county.

The letter, addressed to "Dear Unseen Friend," follows:

"I received your note in the pocket of raincoat and was the lucky one to get your coat and many thanks to you for same dear.

"You say you extend your sympathy to the flood victims; you just don't know the half what it's like down here. We have been through with the water was six feet around us, three feet in our house. We lost all of our furniture and we had to go to a near-by schoolhouse; we had to sleep on concrete floor.

"We have four in family. One sister, 15 years old, she graduated this April. We are just poor people. My daddy works on WPA work. If you have any of your pictures, would like for you to send me one and I will send you one of mine.

"Maybe your parents will drive down this way some time and I want you to stop and see me. I always love girl friends and hope you will answer this.

"If your parents are living give them my love and will thank you again."

And so a Marlon-Franklin Furnace friendship will develop, because the donor of the raincoat is going to correspond with her new-found friend in Seale county.

Key Men's Visits More Than 'Personal'

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Judging from the way British and French financial and naval authorities are turning over here on purely personal visits, something big seems to be up in foreign affairs.

First came the British trade minister, then the French financial minister, and now the British naval minister. The French naval minister, Admiral Lacroix, is expected to stay here for some time.

YOUR INCOME TAX

NO. 31.
Extension for Filing Returns and Payment of Tax.

It is important that the taxpayer render on or before the due date, which is March 15 if the return is filed on the calendar year basis, a return of income as nearly complete and final as it is possible for him to prepare. However, when by reason of illness, absence from home, inability to secure the necessary data, or for other good and sufficient reasons additional time is required, a reasonable extension of time may be granted. Application should be made in writing to the collector of internal revenue for the district in which the taxpayer files his returns on or before the due date of the return, a full recital of the causes for the delay being given. Except in the case of taxpayers who are abroad, no extension may be granted for a period of more than 6 months.

An extension of time for filing the return does not extend the time for payment of the tax, or any installment thereof, unless so specified in the extension. Application for an extension of time for payment of the tax or any installment thereof should be made on form 1127 to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue through the collector of internal revenue for the district in which the taxpayer's return is filed. The applicant should set forth under oath the specific reason for desiring an extension and should clearly indicate what hardship, if any, would result if the extension were not granted. In addition, a statement of assets and liabilities showing the taxpayer's financial condition as of the last day of the preceding month, or as of the close of the last taxable period, and a separate statement of receipts and disbursements for each of the 3 months immediately preceding the month in which the application is filed should be submitted. The amount of tax for which the extension of time of payment is desired should be stated. The commissioner will not consider an extension of time for payment unless required data is made on or before the due date of the tax or installment thereof. If the extension is granted, interest at the rate of 6 per cent a year is collectible from the date the payment should have been made if there had been no extension to the expiration of the period of the extension.

In Ohio History

(From the J. H. Garbrath collection of Ohio histories, written for The Associated Press.)

ADVERTISED BY QUEEN

There was a time when Ohio meat products were second to none in this country in both volume and quality. This was about the middle of the 19th century.

Cincinnati led in this industry. Warren Stagg, a meat packer there, conceived the idea of sending a shipment of choice hams to Queen Victoria.

Some weeks later he received a note written on stationery bearing the British royal coat of arms, the date of Windsor castle, Oct. 25, 1855, conveying not only the thanks of the queen and her associates for the hams, but also an order for double the number.

Competition Reduces Tardiness and Absence as Pupils Deal with Problems

The competitive spirit that rules the action of human beings to such a large extent has entered the class room at Harding high school. And the results have been surprisingly satisfactory.

Competition has been the basis of an experiment recently conducted at the high school. The experiment was not intended to cause one pupil to try to excel another in class work, but to create within the pupils a desire to reduce tardiness and absence.

That the experiment has been successful is revealed in a compilation of records just made in the office of the high school principal, K. H. Marshall.

The idea started last November when Paul Huffman, teacher of mathematics and student council advisor, proposed to the council that this body adopt as one of its activities a movement to decrease tardiness and absence from school. The idea took hold rapidly with the pupils and on their own initiative they developed a plan to achieve this purpose. This fact alone makes the experiment distinctive in as much as this is the only occasion, so far as school authorities know, where pupils themselves have tackled the problem.

Records Show Results.

The records compiled in the office of the school principal show that over a six-week period tardiness decreased from 86 cases in the same period last year to 56 this year. In the opinion of school authorities this is a remarkable record since it means that only 56 cases of tardiness were checked up against the 934 pupils in the high school 80 school days, an average of slightly more than two a day.

Attendance at school also showed a marked improvement for the six-week period as compared with the same period last year, school records show. Principal Marshall said today that for the period this year the cases of absence would average 10 fewer a day than in the same period a year ago. A marked change also has been noted in Harding's standing among other schools in attendance records. While the high school in former years has stood in eighth or ninth place among all the city schools, it climbed to second place in the six weeks of the experiment.

In the contest, home rooms were pitted against each other in an effort to establish the best attendance record. Two points for tardiness and five for absence were charged against each room and in this manner the attendance record for the period was established. The records ranged from a low of two per cent tardiness and absence to a high of seven per cent.

Records were kept by the student council, also known as the Harding Booster club, which is composed of one pupil from each home room.

Pupils Show Interest.

School officials today were ready to attest to the fact that the spirit of competition really entered into the contest. If a pupil neglected to show what his or her classmates considered the proper interest in setting a good record, he was the subject of considerable good natured "ribbing." Continued lack of interest often brought such remarks as: "Say, you were late this morning. How about trying to get here on time once." A few days of this nature usually were effective in getting the delinquent pupil to class on time.

The work of the pupils, however, is not the only effort school officials make to keep tardiness and absence at a minimum. But they admitted today that the contest had accomplished results that in some cases had been the despair of teachers and school heads.

A constant effort is made, Mr. Marshall said, to reduce tardiness as promptly as considered a part of the pupils' training. "Promptness is one of the things expected of them when they finish school and go to work in business or an industry," he said. "The sooner they learn such habits the better."

An occasional case of tardiness is not dealt with severely provided the pupil has a plausible excuse. But if he becomes a repeater an extra period after school is likely to be the penalty.

Likewise attendance is watched closely. If a pupil is absent school officials begin an investigation before the end of the day to determine the cause. Usually the matter can be explained by a telephone call, but in difficult cases the pupil or parents are contacted either by school officials or the visiting teacher whose duty it is to see that all pupils are in school or learn the reason why.

FLOOD CONTROL DEBATE CENTERS ON ECONOMY

Authorities Say Costly Dams and Dikes Should be Offset by Potential Losses if They Were Not Built.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Congressional arguments over unprecedented flood control measures this session may center around what army engineers call "economic justification."

This means simply that the cost of construction of dams, levees and floodways should be offset by the losses which the rivers would cause if left uncontrolled.

In August, 1935, army engineers submitted a plan for building 161 flood control reservoirs on main stream tributaries at a cost of $1,125,000,000.

Major Gen. Edward M. Markham, chief of engineers, said complete execution of the plan should await development of affected areas to the point where the works would be economically justified. He listed projects totaling $320,000,000 for early or immediate construction.

Studies 60-Year Period.

Gen. Markham's conclusions were based on flood records over a 60-year period.

This year's disastrous floods, however, have given the engineers and congressional advocates of extensive control measures new damage figures by which to judge the need for quick action.

Losses in the Ohio river valley alone may reach $1,000,000,000, or two-thirds of the amount unofficially estimated as necessary for an effective national flood control plan.

Army engineers last year figured average annual benefits of their plan would be $21,300,000, a sum equal in earnings of 4 per cent on a capital outlay of $532,500,000, about half the cost of the proposed system. They concluded at that time the immediate execution of the plan was not justified.

Included in the program were 81 reservoirs in the Ohio river basin costing $317,000,000. The plan would be $21,300,000.

ADVENTURE, JEWELS AND ROMANCE MIX IN FILM AT PALACE

An American adventures with a taste for other people's jewels rhymes her way into English circles of the elite and gets a pearl necklace worth a fortune, but when she must choose between disclosure of the theft or a matter of her honor as a woman, she confesses stealing the pearls and wins the undying love and admiration of a titled playboy in "The Last of Mrs. Cheney," current at the Palace through Tuesday.

It's one of the talkiest talkies on record, this adaptation of Frederick Lonsdale's stage play. Joan Crawford is the adventures, Robert Montgomery is the titled auditor, William Powell has a small role as the ringleader of the jewel thieves and Butler for Miss Crawford, and Frank Morgan as a wealthy old bachelor who falls for the girl to the point of proposing marriage, threatens to steal the show. Nigel Bruce, one of the "old" whose beautiful wife, Benita Hume, has a long list of attentive "cousins," does a good bit too, toward enlightening the drawn-out story. Jessie Ralph as the dowager social leader, draws a crisp characterization.

A Pete Smith novelty, "What Do You Think," which raises a discussion of mental telepathy, a Grandland Rice sports short with some beautiful shots of hunting dogs, and a new record on the bill. H. H.

Pleasant Defeats Waldo To Win County Cage Tourney

30 TO 28 VICTORY
TURNED IN AFTER 2
OVERTIME PERIODS

Agosta and Claridon Will Play
Tuesday To Determine Consolation Winner

Pleasant high school basketball team champions of 1936-37 league race today related supreme over county class P cage circles after having added the tournament championship to its season laurels.

The Big Black quintet coached by Merton B. Porter edged Waldo high school 30 to 28 in the final tournament contest Saturday night, which went two overtime periods after finishing in a 28-28 deadlock. Pleasant had turned back from a single point 34 to 32 in the afternoon and slightly favored over the Waldo quintet. M. J. Clarke's Waldo team gained prestige by upsetting Claridon 20 to 18 in the other afternoon semifinal and pushed the league champions to the limit in the battle for top tournament honors.

Pleasant led from early in the game, outscoring a 6 to 6 advance at the quarter, a 14 to 9 lead at half time and was out in front 21 to 16 at the start of the final stanza. The plucky Waldo quintet waged a scolding battle which gave them a convincing 28 to 24 lead with but two minutes remaining to be played.

Utry Ties Score
Vernon Utry senior and guard of Pleasant's team turned the trick by knocking the score at 20 to 20 and again at 28-28 after Killeigh sank a sucker shot for Waldo in the closing two minutes of the contest. Utry was a short shot in the last 37 seconds that tied the score 28-28.

In the final overtime period of three minutes neither team was able to register the necessary two points to pull the game from the fire. The second overtime period was only 50 seconds old when Utry, Pleasant's outstanding individual star of the game, reached through with the goal which decided the game and the tournament championship giving his team a 30 to 28 victory.

Pleasant tournament champions Waldo the runner-up team and the winner of tomorrow night's consolation game matching Agosta and Claridon will be eligible to represent Marion county in the

LIGHT HEAVYWEIGHT CHAMP TO WRESTLE

Bobby Chick Will Meet Jimmie Lott in Match at Steam Shovel Co. Gym

Blond and almost bald Bobby Chick, the 174 pound Texas wrestler who holds the National Wrestling association's light heavyweight championship will visit the Marion ring tonight to defend his laurels against Jimmie Lott, the hefty man from Alabama in one of the featured 90 minute bouts at the Steam Shovel gymnasium.

Lott's claim to the top ranks of the A W A's light heavyweights comes with his reported victory over Leroy McGuirk in a San Francisco bout which followed McGuirk's defeat at the hands of Chick with the N W A title at stake.

To complete tonight's program, Bill Vanable of Sherman Tex. will meet Buck Fister of Elk City, Okla. in a 90 minute scrap with two falls in win.
